UNIFORK MAKES LIGHT WORK OF EVERYDAY BARN CHORES

From Union Jack Stable & Garden, American distributor of fine imported stable forks and garden tools

Everywhere, USA - January 22, 2007 – Looking for a better way to clean up loose hay and straw from your barn floor? The Unifork is more efficient than a pitchfork, easier to handle than a shovel. These strong, durable yet lightweight forks are designed to pick up and move hay, straw, manure, compost, bedding and other bulk material with minimum waste and effort.

The Unifork has rounded ends that are not only safer than the sharp ends of a pitchfork, but also scoop under the material you want to pick up without digging into the soil or surface below. The tines are uniquely tapered allowing the Unifork to easily glide through the muck into the raised back of the fork. Another distinctive quality, the raised back stows larger loads than the average fork.

Weighing in at less than three pounds, the one-of-a-kind Unifork is made from high-grade polypropylene to Harold Moore's exacting quality standards, and is immune to rot and corrosion. Since 1913, Harold Moore Ltd. of Sheffield, England, has crafted groundbreaking products for satisfied customers throughout the world.

Choose from one of four fun colors for your new Unifork: fiery red, country green, baby blue, or hot pink.

Put away your old forks and shovels and start making light work of heavy jobs with the revolutionary Unifork, another must-have tool from Union Jack!

Union Jack Stable & Garden is the exclusive North American distributor for the Unifork and other quality products from Harold Moore, Ltd.
